Apparel Design and Merchandising News

The members of the Fashion Network Association produced their winter runway show in Jack Adams Hall on December 4 with 50 looks. The night began with a performance by the SFSU Fusion dance team and ended with an awards ceremony where PGM dress forms donated three dress forms ($1500) for prizes. Judges from around the country including design professors and industry professionals evaluated the designs. Alina Bushnell's design won Best Overall, Rosa Abili won most Creative, and Wei Kong was awarded Best Construction. Congratulations to all.

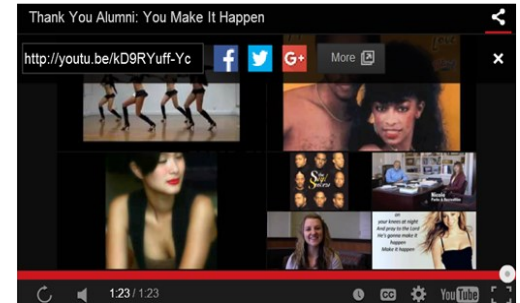

360 Fashion Tech Visionary Design Contest

Apparel Design & Merchandising seniors took the opportunity on November 3, to participate in the 360 Fashion Tech Visionary Design Contest, sponsored by IBM and held at the the Metreo in S.F. in November. The 2 award winners include Nika Rae Garibaldi - Guardian Garments and Christine Ng - Cloud Computing. The event showcased Wearable Technology with a Runway and Gallery event.

Thanks Donors!

A video on SF State website thanks our donors including alumni, students, parents, faculty, staff and friends for their donations. Using the tag line You make _____ happen, our apparel design students said: You make apparel Design happen. Watch the video on: See <http://news.sfsu.edu/sf-state-thanks-donors>

Interior Design News

This year, officers and members of the ASID Student chapter as well as new students in the interior design program volunteered their time and energy to DIFFA Designs – The Design Industries Foundation Fighting AIDS annual fund raising event in San Francisco. For the main entry to the outdoor patio, our ASID Student chapter board designed and installed a remarkable red-based 3-dimensional, ombre effect floral arrangement, dry tree branches in red which were lighted, and a black and white banner which was hand stenciled and which spoke to the essence of life's journey. The installation was designed by Regina Atwal, Lindsay Cimoli, Cassie White, Monique Tiffer, Casey Fiebig, and Shirley Tran along with Thomas Schultheis who assisted with the installation. Proceeds from the event go to the UCSF Positive Health Program - San Francisco General's AIDS care unit at Ward 86. Thank you to all who made this event the success that it was and for making a difference in the lives of many.

DFM 357 Experimental Foods Fall Tasting took place on Friday Dec 1 with over 100 guests stopping in to taste their unique creations. Students work over several months developing food products for a population within nutrition and modify one ingredient as the independent variable. The products are then taste-tested and rated for consumer satisfaction on qualities such as appearance, taste, and texture. This event had the largest turn out to date. Congratulations to our Dietetics Majors on a very successful Fall Tasting!

Look for Opportunities in the Spring

All our scholarship opportunities at SF State are on Academic Works, an SF State program. Log onto <https://sfsu.academicworks.com/> to find these opportunities:

- Krohn Dietetic Internship Scholarship ($750)
given by Dr. Juno-Ann Clarke for a DPD student who has applied for an internship. Dr. Clarke started the DPD and DI programs in CFS/D. She is retired and lives in Oakland.
- Sarah Josef Scholarship ($600)
given by friends of Sarah Josef for a DPD student who has been accepted into an internship. Sarah was the DPD director for many years and is enjoying retirement in Hawaii. Thanks, Sarah, for all your good work in CFS/D.
- Helen Mau Scholarship ($500)
given in honor of graduate Richard Farrar long-time friend of the Department for a dietetics or FCS nutrition/foodservice student. Dr. Mau taught Family Resource Management in the Department for over 40 years. Upon retirement she moved back to her home in Victoria, BC and passed away last year leaving funds for our student scholarships.

ALSO there are others from professional organizations. For more information go to our dept website: <http://cfsd.sfsu.edu/content/student-resources#Scholarships>

- CA-AFCS Bay District and State scholarships of $1500 are available for our students in CFS/D.
